

Kids Create Volunteers work with youth and special interest groups (such as scouts and clubs) leading hands-on art making activities at The Mini-Time Machine Museum and occasionally at venues away from the Museum in our Kids Create program*. They have an interest in art and crafts and a genuine desire to share their enjoyment of miniatures and art making with the community. Kids Create volunteers may also assist with the summer camp program held in June and July.

Kids Create Volunteers are flexible, imaginative and creative individuals who enjoy working with youth. Miniature enthusiasts, artists and crafters make ideal candidates for this program.

*Kids Create is a monthly program designed to engage youth with miniatures from the perspective of the creator through the experience of hands-on miniature making. Taking inspiration from miniatures in the collection, museum staff designs a hands-on miniature project for children with an adult partner.
